

As a Teacher Librarian in California, I know that integrating digital learning throughout the curriculum is key for students to graduate from high school with the skills, dispositions in action, responsibilities, and self-assessment strategies they need to succeed in today's global economy. Access to high-speed broadband is fundamental for success.